One of the many things that I love about this magazine is how liquid it is. We started it with coverage of our Club events and our team's results. Now we have grown to include analysis of Juventus' past and future, in depth player profiles, interest pieces, extensive local soccer content and our charitable endeavours. It's no wonder that our distribution has grown to four times that which it was when we began. Zeb is no longer a magazine that captures only the attention of the Juventus fan in Toronto and around the world, zeb reaches out to soccer fans, young and old, near and far, giving us a collective point at which we all can meet. How proud I am that I can be a part of this.

Owing to the evolution of this magazine-- a magazine that now includes some local soccer news-- I should remind us all that we each carry the tifosi spirit within us, even when far from home. Earlier in the year, I went to see Toronto FC versus Real Salt Lake in Salt Lake City. With my TFC scarf in hand (and a Juve bracelet on my wrist), I can assure you all that our local soccer club had support at that game, even if it was just my lonely voice. But my fervent cheers of joy were meant to represent us all. And when I tell you I was the only TFC fan for miles, I'm not exaggerating. Luckily, we are all cheering in unison at Juventus' Scudetto win. It's been a wonderful year for us Juventusini, finally overcoming the tribulations of that past few years. Now, with new troubles being hurled our way, it is once again our job to show the soccer world what we're made of!

News and Notes

BEFORE THE SUMMER

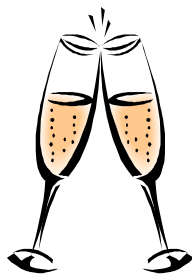

JUVENTUS WINS THE SCUDETTO

The soccer season finished with a champagne toast as Juventus won its 30th unofficial (28th official) Italian League Championship. After nine years and relegation into Serie B, it was great to have the bianconeri back at the top where they belong.

JUVENTUS CANCELS NORTH AMERICAN TOUR

Juventini across the continent were disappointed as scheduled games for Juventus in a North American tour were cancelled due to Coach Conte's desire to have the team back in Italy earlier so that it could prepare for the Italian Super Cup game against Napoli to be played in Beijing. Many, including the Juventus Club DOC Toronto, scheduled plane and bus rides to the games. Despite this turn of events, we look forward with hope that Juventus makes a return to North America next year.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Juventus Club DOC Toronto congratulates, with warmth and love, Claudia Pace and Thomas Whitney on their beautiful June wedding. We at zeb will miss Claudia as one of our Editors when she leaves Toronto to pursue her PhD in New York City. We wish the newlyweds all the best in the years to come.

COMING UP

2012/2013 JUVENTUS CLUB DOC MEMBERSHIP

This year is the year to become a member of the Juventus Club Doc Toronto! This year we celebrate our tenth anniversary as a club! Your membership entitles you to official recognition by Juventus FC in Torino, an official membership kit including card and gift, numerous discounts and perks when visiting Italy and watching Juventus play, not to mention access to our Club events, sponsor discounts and gifts, our official club magazine and, now, this year, our own club's official kit, which includes a membership card and mini Juventus soccer ball as a thank you to all our members (see page 7). Juventus FC requires that all memberships be submitted by September 15th, after which they will no longer be accepting members into their membership log for the current season. Be sure that's you do not miss this window of opportunity. (You can find a membership application on page 6).

COMMEMORATIVE ISSUE OF ZEB MAGAZINE

Letters to the Editors

Dear Tiziana,
I have read through the club's correspondence that 2012 marks the tenth anniversary of our club. However, I have heard people say on the radio that it isn't really the tenth anniversary of the club, that it is actually much older than that. Could you please clarify this for me?

Confused

this club in 1972. Clubs don't work like that, they need constant care. If you leave that club and that club ceases to exist, then if someone else starts another one in 10 years, you can't say that it's the same club as yours. That's unrealistic. What can I tell you, Confused? It looks like everyone wants to take credit for the success of this club. Truthfully, the success of the club has always been in the passion of its members and the drive that they have to keep this club going.

Tiziana

Dear Confused,

As Juventus is a team that is loved around the world, there are many Juventus clubs made in honour of her. Likewise, in Toronto, there have been many incarnations of Juventus clubs over the years. They have all ceased operations for one reason or another: financial difficulties, differing visions for the club among the members...etc.. Though some of the founding members of this club were associated with some of the previous clubs - obviously, having always been Juventus fans - the current Juventus Club DOC Toronto began operations in 2002 and bears no association with the other clubs. Unfortunately, some people disassociate themselves with the club, then come back years later and say that they were a part of the founding of

Advice you can bank on™

The President's Address

I've been wondering for the past month or so how to express what I feel in this column. What I should say is that I feel euphoria at the conquest of another Championship by our beloved Juventus. I should say that it was hard-earned and hard-fought as the team went through various dips throughout the season, trying to find place for once-forgotten players and renewed belief in the ones that we pushed forward. I should say that I'm happy that this victory brings us, once again, into the Champions League where we can flex our mighty muscles with the strongest and most competitive teams in Europe. All of this is true, of course. But what I'm really thinking deep in my heart of hearts is: vindication! This scudetto represents evidence against all those nay-sayers out there who said that ours was a broken team, unable to piece itself back together after being stripped of its star players, pummeled into Serie B and ripped away from its will to win. For those who said that our victories of the past were non-deserved and orchestrated, those who said that we never had what it took to rise above mediocrity and stand once again at the pinnacle of soccer greatness. To all those people I say: WE DID IT! We did it with sweat, we did it with passion, we did it with the belief of our team and all its fans around the world. And - most importantly - we did it for the 30th time!

LA JUVE CHE SOGNAVO

Vorrei gridarlo al mondo intero: "Questa Juve mi piace tutta: dal presidente al magazziniere." Finalmente, vedo la grinta che riempie d'orgoglio il mio cuore bianconero.

Per ripetersi bisogna, pero', continuare con la stessa mentalita'... Vorrei che i dirigenti comprassero giovani di sicuro avvenire; e dei giocatori che oltre ad essere dotati tecnicamente fossero anche propensi a sacrificarsi per il bene del gruppo...

Conte ha portato alla Juve tutta la sua esperienza, da centrocampista tutto fare, e in piu' e' riuscito a contagiare tutti con il suo orgoglio juventino.

Permettetemi di confessare che, contro il parere di molti juventini, avrei voluto il caro Antonio con noi gia' da quattro anni fa. Quanto tempo abbiamo sprecato... Sono sicuro che egli potra' aiutarci anche in futuro: partecipando alla scelta di giocatori che capiscano che cosa veramente voglia dire giocare per la "JUVENTUS."

Se volete mandare le vostre lettere alla squadra, mandatecele via e-mail a juvemaga@yahoo.ca o per posta a Juve Mag, 48 Sonny St. Maple, Ontario L6A 1B7

Bentornati Campioni!

C'e' chi vuole darvi zero stelle, chi vuole darvene una, altri solo due ed infine chi ne vuole vedere tre.

Ma la verita' e' che siete da cinque stelle. Sempre!

Auguroni a tutti e che, questo, sia un campionato come quello appena vissuto: colmo di soddisfazioni e primati...

Forza Juve!

Marisa

Ma, non facciamoci illusioni, tanti tifano contro di noi, e le squadre fanno di tutto per frenare la nostra corsa; anche la FIGC vuole tarpare le nostre ali... Quella massa di "INCOMPETENTI!"

FORZA JUVE! Continua di questo passo.

IL PRANZO SCUDETTO È SERVITO

in italiano

Gli ingredienti sono abbondanti: il centrocampo più forte del mondo, un Mirko Vucinic esplosivo, un Boriello ritrovato, il ritorno del guerriero Del Piero e uno spirito di sacrificio da parte di tanti che hanno dato di tutto a supporto della squadra. Con il Mastro Cuoco Conte, la Juventus si è presentata a tavola giocando un calcio spettacolare, aggressivo ed intenso, dove ognuno ha dato il suo contributo alla causa comune, senza mai risparmiarsi. L'ingrediente chiave: Capitan Alessandro Del Piero, che sembrava non trovare più posto in questa squadra, ma che si è rivelato indispensabile. Sia i suoi gol, che le sue giocate di classe sono state fondamentali quando la squadra si è trovata nei momenti di difficoltà. Con tutto questo raccolto, era inevitabile creare questa buona pasta.

"E' bellissimo tornare a vincere con questa maglia che mi ha dato tante soddisfazioni come calciatore!"
Antonio Conte

"Per me, questo titolo rappresenta l'orgoglio ritrovato del popolo della Juve, il primo obiettivo che mi ero prefissato. Ma è stata un'impresa complessa, un percorso lungo. Quando sono arrivato due anni fa ho trovato una situazione difficile e bisognava cercare le persone che potessero dare professionalità, stimoli. La Juventus esiste per vincere e, come presente, non posso che ipotizzare un futuro vincente. Ho la fortuna, abbiamo la fortuna, di lavorare con i sogni della gente perché il calcio deve dare la felicità. Ero a casa...l'altra sera e vedevo in televisione le immagini di festa di tutta Italia: piazza San Carlo a Torino, davanti al Duomo a Milano, a Roma. Abbiamo invaso le città: è stato bello avere ridato il sorriso a tante persone. Si è chiuso il cerchio, perché siamo tornati a vincere." Andrea Agnelli

Alessandro Del Piero: A Retrospective

zeb Co-Editor, Tiziana Pace, takes a look back at the career of departing Juventus Captain Alessandro Del Piero, punctuated by an emotional perspective and personal photos and articles that she has collected over the years.

The day has finally arrived. It's been looming on the horizon like a murky cloud threatening to douse the burning embers of almost two decades of play. Alessandro Del Piero's last day with Juventus. To be honest, I chose denial as my route, preferring to ignore the impending storm. Maybe with a little hope and some reconsideration, the storm would blow over and when the wind calmed and the rain dried Del Piero would still stand upon the field draped in black and white. But that is not to be.

As I watch him now circle the stadium on a lap of honour, having left the pitch for the final time as a Juventus player, a multitude of feelings come cursing through me and are difficult to decipher.

On the one hand, I am happy, honoured and appreciative that I was able to walk alongside him as a fan through on his promenade through soccer history. I was able to see him play in various stadiums, always commanding attention, repaying my respect and esteem. I was able to witness him grow and mature with Juventus, eventually becoming the symbol of the team - a well-earned tribute to his immense quality of play.

The new kid on the block

It was one summer long ago that my Roman friends wrote to me to share how they had just finished watching the Juventus Primavera defeat the Roma Primavera. The star player, they told me, was one Alessandro Del Piero; and he was about to come play with the first team. So it was that on September 12, 1993, the legend began.

Sometime you don't take to players right away. With him it was different. I was bewitched by the youngster who looked so timid in photos off the field, yet took such command on the field. In his first season with the bianconeri, he earned his place, helping the team bring home its first scudetto in eight years.

He was nicknamed Pinturicchio to Roberto Baggio's Raffaello by Gianni Agnelli. It was a Del Piero to go crazy over. He seemed inspired both in league and cup games. A RAI commentator once said it best: stra-or-din-a-rio! When he scored 2 goals in a 4-2 win against Lazio in 1994, Alex no longer made the news. He WAS the news.

In 1996 against Borussia Dortmund, the press wrote that Pinturicchio tried to show up Raffaello and get into the heart of the Avvocato. Del Piero faced the same team that, just three years earlier, Baggio had "painted" some of the best masterpieces of his time. This time, though, it was a Del Piero-show. Alex not only impressed us but he surpassed our every expectation.

Unforgettable...in every way

It's difficult to pinpoint his greatest ability. Immediately his renowned free kicks, shot with precision and excellence, come to mind. But for me, it's his versatility. He could play anywhere up front. And not only could Del Piero score, over the years he assisted goals to the likes of Vialli, Ravanelli, Zinedine Zidane, Inzaghi, Trezeguet and Nedved. His adaptability contributed to his longevity with Juventus.

"He likes to play, he feels it in his soul," praised Diego Maradona.

The 1997-98 season marked the epitome of Del Piero's greatness. He scored 21 goals in Serie A and 10 goals in the Champions League claiming the top scorer spot.

Despite his stature, many times he was the most intimidating Juventus player on the field. Del Piero dominated. It was only natural that he would eventually gravitate to the position that most suited him - leader.

Over time, Del Piero became the soul of Juventus. On occasion, when it seemed as though the Juventus light had been spent, we looked to him to reignite the flame. In the face of his extraordinary plays, we had no choice but to bask in his greatness.

Come te nessuno mai

There is no measure to the way Del Piero touched our hearts. We love him because he stayed with us and our team. It showed his character, commitment, and dedication.

"A true gentleman never leaves his Lady," he said during the calciopoli scandal.

Being stripped of two hard-fought championships and then relegated to Serie B did not distance him. In fact, it made the bond between him and Juventus even stronger.

It is not the eight scudetti that he helped to bring home. Or the four Italian Super Cups, the Coppa Italia, UEFA Cup, Champions's League Cup and the Intercontinental Cup. And it's not because he's Juventus' absolute all-time leading scorer.

Early shots of Del Piero at the team's hotel, signing autographs and on the field.

A player like Del Piero becomes a part of you, a part of your definition of soccer and how an athlete should be, against which we will measure all others that will come after him. Pin-turicchio is now the Master.

A class act

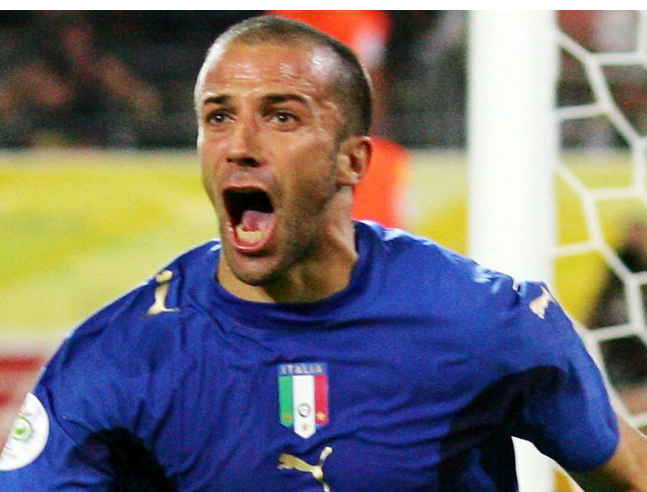

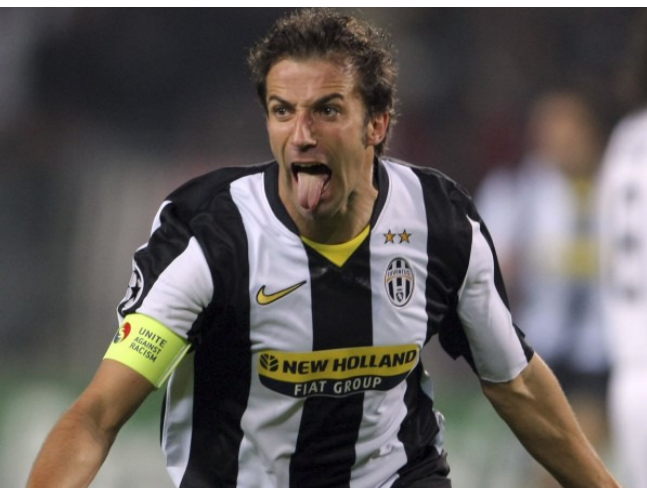

As our hero encircles the stadium pouring his gratitude out to waiting arms, I feel as though he would hug each fan if he could. These last moments as our bandiera, Del Piero concretizes what we've always thought of him: a gentleman, generous, timeless, classy. Even now, he does not spoil his exit with harsh words.

Yet, I feel an uneasy mixture of sadness with that same joy. Insanely, I watch him walk off the field feeling a panic as though this were just now breaking news. The finality has hit me.

Thank you, Captain. Thank you for letting us dream alongside you. Thank you for leaving an inextinguishable mark on our black and white hearts.

From the mouth of the Master

"Even as a child I was obsessed by the prospect of playing football. Nothing else ever interested me. It was just football."

"I'm the leading scorer in the cup, and that's lovely, but don't forget this is also a great moment for the whole squad, when the two things coincide you can't ask for more."

"Luckily, thanks to the way my parents taught me, I think I can handle the fame in the right manner."

"Money is not everything. My ambition was football itself, not the money I'd make from it. If that brings me and my family a more comfortable lifestyle, then that's fine. But I don't spend my time between games and training sessions thinking about figures."

"As captain, I must always be an example to my team-mates. I'm calm and I don't have any problem with the coach or with the club. My only goal is to be ready whenever I have the opportunity to play."

"I've never considered one player to be all-important. In football you win or lose together as a team. I've scored frequently for Juve, and made some goals as well, but I couldn't do it without the others in the side, the defenders and the midfielders. And the keeper."

"As long as things are going well it's better to just keep playing, then add everything up at the end. I am proud of what I have done for this club."

"The championship was won by me and my teammates in equal measure. Naturally, it's nice to be the centre of attention, and the fact that I've scored more goals than in past years and have scored more than my teammates has obviously given me a high profile. I've just tried to do my best as always... and I've definitely grown. But I have to thank my teammates and all those who have worked with us."

Del Piero, 21 anni, è alle prese con il servizio militare ma il 18 luglio, giorno del raduno juventino, sarà presente per l'inizio della stagione bianconera che si prospetta ricca di obiettivi importanti: scudetto da difendere, maglia numero 10 e il sogno della Coppa del Campioni

Alessandro Del Piero ha firmato nei giorni scorsi un contratto che lo lega alla Juventus fino al Duemila: il fantasista è destinato a diventare un simbolo della squadra bianconera, per la quale ha sempre fatto il tifo

Insieme hanno disputato due campionati

Del Piero è arrivato alla Juve nel '93. Dunque, lui e Baggio hanno giocato insieme due campionati. Ma soltanto 5 volte sono stati in campo contemporaneamente per tutti i 90 minuti. Altre 18 occasioni hanno disputato in coppia una mezz'ora di gara più o meno lunga

Può diventare il vero erede di Roby Baggio

Alessandro Del Piero è nato a Conegliano il 9 novembre 1974. Cresciuto nella Padova è passato alla Juve due stagioni fa. Il primo anno ha giocato in Primavera e subito due successi: Viareggio e scudetto.

Del Piero's Open Letter to the Fans

all these images flash in front of my eyes and at a certain point blur into one marvelous embrace of my final game in Turin.

That is the photograph that encapsulates everything, the instant I want to bring with me always, the one that since May 13 has been printed on my heart. It cannot be cancelled.

A while ago, before going on vacation, I emptied out my locker at Vinovo and walking out of the training ground I stopped where for many months you waited for me hoping for a photo, an autograph or just a hello... under the snow, the ice, the rain, the burning sun. But this time I am the one saluting and thanking you, just as you did with me.

The players pass by, but Juventus remains. My teammates remain, who I wish the best and will always cheer them on.

Above all what remains is the fans, you who are Juventus. That jersey that I loved and will always love, that I desired and respected, without breaks or discounts. I am happy that others after me can wear the shirt and above all the '10' that has always had my name on it since they started printing names on the Bianconeri jerseys.

I am happy for whoever will wear it next year and happy that somewhere – in Italy and all over the world – someone is dreaming of wearing it.

I would be proud of someone wanting to follow my path, just as I dreamed of doing so with other champions, other examples, other legends.

From tomorrow I will no longer be a Juventus player, but I will always be one of you.

Now a new adventure begins and I am as fired up as I was 19 summers ago."

"It's not news, but knowing it is 'official' still has an effect on me. It is not a sad moment for me, there are no regrets or nostalgia. Not anymore. That's because I've had time to think back over everything that happened in my last bianconeri season, going further back and reliving the greatest dream I could've dreamed.

All the memories, the joys, the triumphs and – to be honest – a few recent moments of bitterness... Today

Curiosità

July 24, 1923 marked a crucial event in the history of Juventus F.C. On that day, the Agnelli family took control of the team, driving Juventus forward to an unforgettable reign in Italian and World soccer. It all started with Eduardo Agnelli, (father of Gianni and Umberto, and grandfather of Andrea), who replaced Corrado Corradini, beginning a legacy of greatness that would see the team's following grow exponentially across the world, bringing forth a formidable team for a new era of soccer.

Il nostro corrispondente estero, Francesco Mastroiizzi, ci dà notizie sui giocatori che hanno lasciato la nostra squadra ma non i nostri cuori

Trezeguet continua a segnare

Giocatori come Trezeguet ne esistono pochi. È raro trovare qualcuno con lo stesso fiuto del gol e la sua continuità di rendimento nel segnare. La capacità di David di farsi trovare sempre pronto in area di rigore, nel posto esatto in cui arriverà la palla, e di metterla puntualmente in rete, è unica. La sua freddezza in fase di finalizzazione gli è valsa ben tre soprannomi: Cobra, Trezegol e Re David.

In dieci anni a Torino (dal 2000 al 2010), nonostante numerosi infortuni, il franco-argentino ha realizzato un totale di 171 gol, di cui 123 in campionato, per una media di 17 gol a stagione. 17 come il numero di maglia indossato in bianconero. Nella storia della Juventus è lui il miglior marcatore straniero, davanti perfino a Michel Platini.

Come ben sappiamo le strade di Trezeguet e della Juventus si dividono alla fine del campionato 2009/10. Ad agosto David si trasferisce in Spagna, all'Hércules di Alicante, club neopromosso in Liga che per la nuova stagione punta alla salvezza. Si tratta soprattutto di una scelta di vita, perché Alicante è la città natale di sua moglie Beatrice.

L'esordio avviene il 12 settembre, nella seconda giornata di campionato, contro il Barcellona. Lui non segna, ma l'Hércules espugna il Camp Nou con un inatteso 2 a 0. Nella giornata successiva arriva il primo gol, realizzato su rigore nel match perso 2 a 1 con il Valencia. Il 13 febbraio 2011, con la rete della vittoria per 2-1 contro il Real Zaragoza, raggiunge il traguardo dei 200 gol tra campionato francese, italiano e spagnolo. Chiude la stagione con 12 marcature all'attivo, ma la retrocessione della squadra lo spinge a sciogliere il contratto, valido ancora per un anno, per andare a cercare fortuna altrove.

Nell'estate del 2011 sembra sicuro un suo ritorno nel campionato italiano. Gli esperti di calciomercato parlano di un interessamento da parte del Napoli, che si appresta a giocare la Champions League. Si saprà in seguito dell'accordo raggiunto tra Trezeguet e il presidente De Laurentis, costretto a desistere a seguito del no del tecnico Mazzarri, più orientato a puntare su Lucarelli. Sfumata la trattativa con il club partenopeo, accetta la proposta del Baniyas, squadra con sede ad Abu Dhabi, che gioca nella UAE Pro-League, il massimo campionato degli Emirati Arabi. La nuova avventura dura, però, soltanto pochi mesi. A causa di problemi muscolari (e di ambientazione) scende in campo soltanto 4 volte, senza mai andare in gol, cosicché già a dicembre decide di svincolarsi dal contratto.

Soltanto poche settimane e trova una nuova squadra. Già prima di Natale, infatti, è in Argentina, sua terra di origine, per firmare con il glorioso River Plate, non prima di aver superato le rituali visite mediche. La storica squadra di Buenos Aires si trova in Segunda Division, dopo essere retrocessa per la prima volta nella sua storia. Trezeguet riprova dunque l'esperienza di un campionato di serie B, come già successo con la Juventus nel post-farsopoli, con l'obiettivo di una immediata promozione.

Nella partita di debutto in campionato con i "Millionarios", lo scorso 12 febbraio, segna subito il suo primo gol. Ne seguiranno altri 13, i più importanti dei quali all'ultima giornata, nella partita decisiva per la promozione. Con una splendida doppietta, infatti, firma il 2 a 0 all'Almirante Brown e riporta il River Plate, la squadra per cui faceva il tifo da bambino, nella massima serie argentina, nel visibilibio dei 50 mila spettatori dello stadio Monumental. A 34 anni Trezeguet ha così dimostrato di poter essere ancora decisivo e di saper fare, come sempre, il suo mestiere: segnare.

Top 10 Momenti Memorabili Scudetto No.30

10. Juventus-Parma 4-1, 2ª giornata (11 settembre 2011)

A causa dello sciopero dei calciatori, è questa la prima partita di campionato, che la Juve inizia nel suo nuovo stadio nel migliore dei modi. Dominio in campo e quattro reti siglate da giocatori vecchi (Pepe e Marchisio) e nuovi (Lichtsteiner e Vidal). Spettacolo puro.

9. Juventus-Milan 2-0, 6ª giornata (2 ottobre 2011)

Lo scontro diretto con i campioni d'Italia è il primo grande test del campionato e se lo aggiudica con merito la Juventus. Protagonista assoluto il Principino Marchisio, autore della doppietta che nel finale decide una partita dominata dalla nostra squadra.

8. Napoli-Juventus 3-3, 11ª giornata (29 novembre 2011)

Nel recupero della partita rinviata per presunto maltempo, la Juve va a Napoli e strappa un pareggio in rimonta alla squadra di Mazzarri. Sotto per 3 a 1, veniamo fuori di prepotenza negli ultimi 20 minuti e grazie a Estigarribia e Pepe riportiamo la sfida in equilibrio.

7. Atalanta-Juventus 0-2, 19ª giornata (21 gennaio 2012)

A Bergamo Lichtsteiner e Giaccherini confezionano il 2-0 e permettono alla Juve di mantenere il punto di vantaggio conquistato nel 18º turno sul Milan, sconfitto nel derby. Siamo campioni d'inverno per la prima volta dal 2006.

6. Milan-Juventus 1-1, 25ª giornata (25 febbraio 2012)

Al Meazza va in scena la partita dei veleni, quella del famoso gol "fantasma" di Muntari: conclusione

respinta oltre la linea da Buffon, non vista dalla quaterna arbitrale.

Sarebbe stato il 2 a 0. Partita importante più che altro perché ha fatto

"rosicare" per molto tempo Allegri e Galliani.

5. Juventus-Inter 2-0, 29ª giornata (05-05-2002)

Battere l'Inter è sempre un piacere. Primo tempo sofferto, ripresa arrembante. Caceres sblocca il risultato di testa, poi è Del Piero a mettere il sigillo finale con un preciso diagonale su perfetto assist di Vidal: è il primo gol in campionato del nostro capitano.

4. Palermo-Juventus 0-2, 31ª giornata (7 aprile 2012)

La Juve torna in testa a +1, battendo il Palermo con gol di Bonucci e Quagliarella, dopo che nel pomeriggio il Milan ha perso in casa dalla Fiorentina per 2-1 (al rigore di Ibrahimovic rispondono Jovetic e poi Amauri, ex bianconero per una volta utile alla nostra causa).

3. Juventus-Lazio 2-1, 32ª giornata (11 aprile 2012)

Partita dominata dal primo all'ultimo minuto, soprattutto nel secondo tempo, ma vittoria ottenuta in extremis, nonostante le innumerevoli occasioni da rete, grazie a una perfetta punizione di Del Piero, nel giorno della sua 700ª partita ufficiale in maglia bianconera.

2. Juventus-Roma 4-0, 34ª giornata (22 aprile 2012)

Il Milan viene fermato in casa da un ottimo Bologna, mentre la Juve strapazza la Roma, chiudendo la partita sin da subito, con tre gol (due di Vidal) realizzati nella prima mezz'ora. Più 3 per gli uomini di Conte, che a quattro giornate dalla fine iniziano a credere nello scudetto.

1. Cagliari-Juventus 0-2, 37ª giornata (6 maggio 2012)

Dopo l'incredibile pareggio con il Lecce del turno precedente, sul campo neutro del Nereo Rocco di Trieste la Juve regola facilmente il Cagliari per 2 a 0, mentre a San Siro l'Inter batte il Milan 4-2. Il distacco torna a + 4 a una giornata dalla fine: la festa per il 30º scudetto può avere finalmente inizio.

Soccer in the City

by Michael Brancatella, TFC Correspondent

With the beautiful game on summer break in Europe, our eyes turn a little closer to home, to the MLS and our home team, Toronto FC. While it is true, they are no bianconeri, going 0-9 in the league before finally getting a win, the Reds have had moments of joy.

They started off this year beating David Beckham, Robbie Keane and the LA Galaxy in the CONCACAF Champions League Quarter-Finals 4-3 on aggregate, making them the first Canadian team to make it to the Semi-Finals. They presented a decent showing against heavily favored and eventual runners-up, Mexican side Santos Laguna.

In the Amway Canadian Championship Toronto FC beat Eastern rivals, and new comers to the MLS, Montreal Impact 2-0 at home after a scoreless draw at the Olympic Stadium in Montreal. They then went on to get a 1-1 draw in Vancouver before coming home and having Bermudan winger Reggie Lambe strike a winner that gave the Reds a 1-0 win and their fourth straight Canadian Championship.

However in league play in the month of March alone, with three games played, they allowed seven goals while only scoring once. April and May were not much better for head coach Aron Winter and Toronto FC, only getting their first win May 26.

Shortly after, Winter became the latest member of the revolving door club as the team released him from his contract. The Dutchman was the longest serving head coach, overseeing 64 games in all competitions. But with only 18 wins to his credit and 25 losses along with 21 draws, it was only a matter of time before we were to see another man at the helm.

Englishman Paul Mariner has now been installed and the Reds have put together a decent run of play as of late. But with the recent season-ending injury to team goal scoring leader and Designated Player Danny Koeevermans, Toronto FC could be heading for another rough stretch.

TFC have already had more than their fair share of injuries this season. Both defenders Adrian Cann and Dicoy Williams were unable to start the season because of injuries sustained last year. Former Canadian International, Cann's injury seemed to heal and he played a hand full of games this season before becoming injured again. Williams, who was injured playing for the Jamaican National Team in the 2011 CONCACAF Gold Cup, is much slower to recover and has only played 9 games since joining the club in 2011.

Captain and Designated Player Torsten Frings was also injured this year and missed about six weeks after only the first league game of the season. First choice goal keeper Stefan Frei was also sidelined for the season with a broken fibula after only one start this year against LA in the first leg of the Quarter-Finals for CONCACAF Champions League. There was also a handfull of other small injuries throughout the first half of the season.

The Reds were pretty quick to respond to Danny Koeeverman's injury and acquired French striker Eric Hassli from Canadian rivals Vancouver Whitecaps. The club also signed 24 year old forward Quincy Amarikwa, who made his debut in a mid season friendly against Liverpool FC and actually scored Toronto FC's goal in a 1-1 draw.

The two new signings combined with the fact that TFC are now on a three game winning streak – the first time since 2008 – means that if the Reds can beat the Houston Dynamo on July 28, they can be taking some real momentum into their August 1st Champions League game with Salvadoran side CD Aguila.

Toronto FC's season isn't over yet. They are 9 points away from a playoff spot and they need to string together more wins to push for that outside chance that they currently have. However they still need to address holes in their squad, most noticeably in their backline. If another move is made and a solid, experienced centre back is signed, TFC may have that chance at turning around the worst start in MLS history.

So when the Italian Serie A starts again in August, and we all put on our Juve jerseys, don't forget about our local team, Toronto FC. Show some support for them as well, because they may need the fans support more then the Italian Champions.

TFC vs LA GALAXY

Champions League
Quarter Final
March 7, 2012

A very encouraging performance at the Roger's Centre as TFC looked strong the entire game against a robust team, drawing 2-2 against the LA Galaxy.

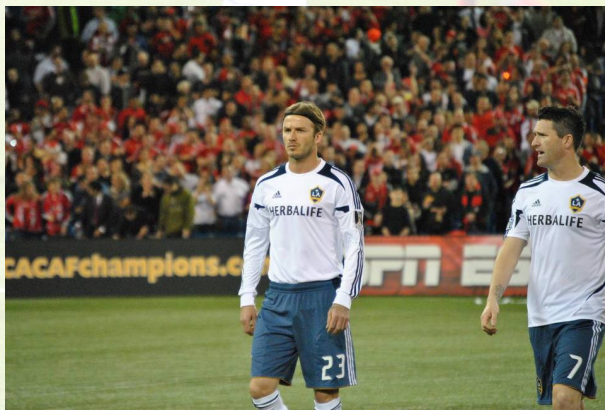

Some of the changes to the TFC line-up made many nervous but it obviously worked.

In the first half TFC looked comfortable on the ball with long periods of possession. Toronto took advantage of their speed to press forward into the LA defense, which seemed to be somewhat crippled by their overly contrived moves. A calculated risk but one that panned out with the Canadians finding themselves ahead 2-0 after just 17 minutes of play.

Yet Toronto seemed to lose their belief in themselves as the game went on. LA constantly battered the TFC defence with long balls and Beckham's corner kick, even the Toronto fans did try to obliterate his precision by dousing him with streamers and ribbons at each corner.

It wasn't long before a goal off a corner (ironically not Beckham's) landed LA an away goal which seemed to ultimately change the complexion of the game, allowing LA to eventually tie. TFC did however advance to the 2011-12 CONCACAF Champions League semi-finals, becoming the first Canadian team to do so.

The TFC Experience

Growing up playing and developing a love and appreciation for soccer, it is only natural that I would dream to one day work within the soccer community. Given the opportunity to join the TFC Game Crew, was a dream come true. From the moment I walked into BMO field I was instantly overwhelmed with excitement by being so close to the field, the players and the action. The TFC Game Crew consists of 17 members (men and women) who all share the same passion and love for the game. Some of our duties include: the setup of all fan zones, fan interaction, opening ceremonies; such as player escorts, national flags, ball kids, etc., half time shows, and post-game activities. Our jobs and responsibilities alternate each game, this way we are able to be involved in every aspect of the game. I am blessed to have this job opportunity with Toronto's growing soccer team; I use the word "job" lightly because I am having too much fun to consider this work. It's great to do work at something I have a passion for.

Come On You Reds!!

TFC vs SANTOS

Champions League Semi Final
March 28, 2012

TFC Trek: Fan's Log

Just ahead of the match there is still a sense of hope in the air, although it is somewhat dampened by TFC's recent loss in the home opener. Quite a bad loss actually, but given that this same team just defeated the LA Galaxy to be the first Canadian team in history to advance to the CON-CAF Semi-Finals, we Toronto fans can push that aside and root for TFC tonight with renewed hope.

It's a great night for a game: windy and cool, perfect for the players to stay attentive, though a little harsh for the fans, though they have their enthusiasm to keep them warm.

The players line up for the team pictures. Our team is there, our soldiers, our warriors. As they stand during the national anthem, they represent every one of us. We hope through their eye and dream through their feet. When the starting kick off actually takes place, when the game actually starts, we realize that we are actually quite helpless. We are doomed to watch the goings on as spectators. This must be what it feels like for a player to sit on the bench, knowing he is helpless. If only we could will the ball across the field or into the net. If willing could only make it so.

It's quieter when you watch a game live. Not that the stadium is quiet, or even the press box for that matter. It's just that your head isn't constantly inundated with the commentators' chatter. I usually find myself following what the commentator says, even picking up his biases, if he has any, or rebelling against them if I need to.

A live game offers you the quiet that your head needs in order to really watch the game.

I remember the first time I saw a soccer game live, I noticed two things - the quiet and the lack of instant replay. When you are used to it, it can be frustrating to only see a play once. When you start watching games live you start getting used to the fact that whatever happens happens so you have to start paying attention and being more aware.

The team takes the field and the crowd erupts into cheers and applauded. Maybe they can infuse their will in the players. At kick off the streamers come out. It looks like it's snowing red flakes.

Ten minutes in and already two shots on net for TFC. The play is all in the Santos half. The will is palpable. It is when the play shifts to the Toronto half of the field when it starts to really feel like a champions league game. Santos scores. The will is shaken. Toronto's best chance so far was the keeper's fumble in front of the net. It hurts to watch. Good thing I don't have replay.

On a second take of a free kick just outside the area after a yellow cards given to TFC comes the goal. We willed it. We helped. There was no way that we were going to wallow in the misery of a one goal deficit.

The crowd is dancing now. I wouldn't have it in me to do the "standing only" at the ends of the stadium but those guys look like they're having the most fun.

Halftime is over. Now it's time to lock it down. It may be raining but our hope cannot be doused. TFC come out the gate fighting. They show great control is passing, something that they have lack in recent times. The stadium is not full. That's a shame. A mis-step like the one last Saturday should not be used to condemn them. It is early yet. What TFC have lacked in the past is not just confidence but the will to win. Sometimes it just looks like they don't care and that's not allowed in Toronto.

An alleged penalty is not called for Santos. I need replay. The visitors seem to be getting bolder, pushing forward now. Play begins to get a bit harsh. Everyone seems to be avoiding the flanks and playing up through the middle. Santos is able to take advantage of the wide open spaces in mid-field left by the Torontonians. It seems that TFC is starting to fall part. Were it not for the keeper being quick on his feet we would have been in trouble. "Play like we dream", the banner reads. If only.

This competition is really heating up now. It's a constant back and forth. As sport enthusiasts we love it, as fans of our team, we endure the constant shifting of hope vs doubt. It seems like Santos always has the run of play when they get up to the Toronto net. After a scuffle near the TFC area, Santos is down to 10 after a red card is issued. 10 minutes left in the game.

It's the rally to the finish. The crowd is stomping, the stands are shaking. The game ends with a 1-1 tie in front of 18,950 spectators. Unfortunately the mood was marred by end of game scuffle (I'm being nice, brawl is a better word) which cleared both benches. It was a shame to watch. A sad ending to a wonderful game.

TFC vs LIVERPOOL

Exhibition Game

July 21, 2012

Toronto FC and Liverpool drew 1-1 in a friendly game that mimicked the light and sunny weather outside the dome.

The day started off as beautifully as one could have hoped: a sunny, warm 27° - the coolest that we had had in more than a week - with clear skies, slight breeze, even inside the stadium, and an enthusiasm that began to infiltrate the field hours before the game even began.

The stadium was packed but not full, though that's to be expected at a soccer game in North America. The passion for soccer in the continent has permeated the masses but it hasn't yet reach its full potential. The stands are mostly comprised of Liverpool supporters though the TFC fans make up for their lack of numbers by the sheer passion and exuberance that they display.

The mood in the stadium is exceptional. There's no anger or tension, just the desire to play and good game and watch one. A couple of early chances by Liverpool get the crowd on its toes early on and promises action in the 90 minutes to come. It is when TFC get its first shot at net that the crowd really gets going.

In the second half Liverpool substitutes all eleven players. Not to be totally outdone, TFC substitutes ten of its players too. The move seems to be a hit! TFC scores close to the hour mark. The stadium explodes. The goal spurs Liverpool into action although one can't say that they weren't attacking before. In the 69th minute Liverpool ties. Though the dome was closed at some point, diminishing some of the atmosphere, the action on the field doesn't stop until the 90th minute is played. The game ends at a draw with 33,087 is the attendance. Not bad Toronto, not bad at all.

Alberto Aquilani (right) looks to revive his career, as many former Juventus players have in the past, by a move to Fiorentina. His status as first team player with the bianconeri garnered him the attention that he needed to stake a claim to a spot in the Italian national team. After figuring prominently with Liverpool, it now falls on Fiorentina Coach Vincenzo Montella to tap into the unfulfilled potential that Aquilani has yet to realize.

European Cup 2012 Wrap-Up

Spain-Italy 4-0

In the Final of the 2012 European Cup, Spain and Italy played to a thrilling 4-0 victory in favour of the defending champions. While much of the tournament saw Spain dominate but with a lackluster performance, that all changed in the final. When Spain took the field, they played like champions. They played quickly and precisely, creating plenty of chances. After exhibiting superior control over the ball, the Spanish scored their first goal 14 minutes into the game. When the second goal came at the 41st minute, it became an uphill battle for the Italians. Though the Spanish did not have superior possession of the ball, it is what they did with the ball that successfully translated to the scoreboard. The Italians did not play badly but they were clearly out played and outclassed as Spain's strong defense kept the Italians at bay.

The second half saw the Italians get more and more tired, eventually playing in 10 men after an injury left them a man down with no more substitutions. It wasn't long before Prandelli's men took in another 2 goals with the score proclaiming the Spanish dominance on the field.

With this victory, Spain has defended its Euro Cup 2008 title as well as being the first team to ever win three major tournaments in a row (Euro 2008, World Cup 2010, and Euro 2012).

STUPID THINGS SAID BY COMMENTATORS

- Well, it's Liverpool two, Ipswich nil, and if the score stays this way, I've got to fancy Liverpool for the win.
- He had an eternity to play that ball, but took too long.
- And so they have not been able to improve on their 100% record.
- With the last kick of the game, he scored with a header.
- Well, it's a fabulous kaleidoscope of colour: almost all the Brazilians are wearing yellow shirts.
- Their manager, Howard Wilkinson, isn't here today, which strongly suggests that he may be elsewhere.
- I am a firm believer that if one team scores a goal, the other need to score two to win.
- If a team scores early on, it often takes an early lead.
- You cannot possibly have counted the number of passes made, but there were eight.

Though your editors are both avid soccer fans, and women, we couldn't resist posting the following list that we found of the top ten stupidest things said by women during a soccer match. We definitely feel for the men in these circumstances.

10. If Cristiano Ronaldo plays at Real Madrid and for Portugal too, what happens when Real Madrid plays against Portugal?
9. Which T-Shirt do you like more?
8. What happens if someone score a goal?
7. Why are they chasing that ball?
6. Why are they still running if they don't have the ball?
5. Honey, my mom is on phone. Do you want to talk with her?
4. They are playing even if it's raining?
3. Why are you so angry? Is JUST a game...
2. Can't you see the score tomorrow?
1. Honey, if you are an Arsenal fan, I don't understand why are you watching Liverpool vs Manchester United?
